

JOHN P. SORENSON SUDDENLY CALLED

County Horticultural Inspector Succumbs to Attack of Bronchial Pneumonia.

WAS INSPECTOR IN THIS COUNTY FOR 14 YEARS

Was Also Prominently Identified With Fruit Work Throughout State.

John P. Sorenson, for fourteen years horticultural inspector in Salt Lake county and one of the most efficient men ever connected with the service in Utah, died Monday morning at the Latter-Day Saints' hospital, as the result of an attack of bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Sorenson was removed to the hospital three days ago, but his illness had covered a period of almost three weeks. His condition was not considered particularly serious until last Friday, when the attending physician advised his removal to the hospital. Mr. Sorenson failed to rally and the end came early Monday morning.

With the death of John P. Sorenson, the Utah Horticultural inspector, a man who has been prominently identified with the work in this state since the inception of the commission. For twelve consecutive years Mr. Sorenson had charge of the horticultural inspector in Salt Lake county and was connected with the state commission for two years previously.

Something of His Work.

The deceased was one of the commission which did such excellent work in appraising the state school lands some years ago, working in conjunction with the late Fisher Harris, former secretary of the Salt Lake Commercial club. Mr. Sorenson was also a member of the commission which located the southern experiment farm at St. George in 1901.

For years Mr. Sorenson had charge of the horticultural inspector in Utah state fairs, and it was due to his energy and ability that the exhibits were so uniformly creditable.

Mr. Sorenson was born in Denmark in 1857 and came to Utah in 1871. He was a member of the Latter-Day Saints and had been prominently identified with church work in the Twenty-first ward for many years.

Mr. Sorenson is survived by a widow, Mrs. Eva Sorenson and six children. They are, Mrs. Lily Seaver, Mrs. Mary Arnold, Jacob, Sidney, Joseph, Esther, Isaac, Olivia and Hyrum Sorenson, all residing in Salt Lake, and a daughter, Mrs. Emma Sorenson, residing in Ogden.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Twenty-first ward chapel. The body may be viewed by friends Thursday from 11 to 1 p. m. at the family residence, 673 Sixth avenue.

GOVERNMENT EXPERT TO CONFER WITH SHEPHERD

A. A. Callister of the Utah state board of sheep commissioners, has received word from A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, U. S. department, that he will be in Utah at the time of the National Woolgrowers' convention in Ogden on December 28.

Mr. Callister says that he hopes to meet representatives of the various sheep breeders, sheep commission and state veterinarians, with a view to conferring with them in regard to diseases of sheep.

The coming of Mr. Melvin is looked upon as one of the important features of the convention. Doubtless much of benefit will result from an exchange of views with respect to the handling of sheep in this state, with particular reference to the structure of the sheep industry.

BOYS STEALING LEAD PLACED ON PROBATION

It is claimed that there are other boys implicated in the theft and the juvenile court officers are still working on the case.

GOVERNMENT PORTS ARE NOT ACCEPTED

Important Matters Thoroughly Discussed, but Definite Action Is Postponed.

HAULING OF FREIGHT BY STREET RAILWAY OPPOSED

Judge O. W. Powers Threatens Injunction Suit if Resolution Is Adopted.

Although the joint committee on streets and municipal laws spent the entire afternoon Monday in going over the resolution granting the Utah Light & Heat company the privilege of hauling freight for the government, over its lines to Fort Douglas and the franchise of the Salt Lake & Los Angeles railway company for laying double tracks over certain streets of the city to permit it to run cars up to Main and South Temple streets, neither of these matters were disposed of by the committee.

The committee meeting of the city council Monday night. The committee reported favorably upon both matters and recommended that they be passed, but some opposition arose at the last moment and both were laid over for one week.

The opposition arose at the committee meeting in the first place, but the committee subsequently granted the reports.

There were some members of the council at the committee meeting who were not members of the committee, and the matter came up before the council they raised objections to the final disposition of both matters. Still the opposition had been heard further.

Judge Powers Objects.

In regard to the freight hauling proposition, Judge O. W. Powers appeared before the committee and entered a vigorous protest against granting the franchise. He declared that the hauling of freight on the street cars would be a nuisance to the city and that if the council adopted the resolution he would file an injunction suit in the courts and try to defeat the measure.

The resolution as introduced restricted the hauling of freight to the hours between 8 p. m. daily and 6 a. m. daily and provided that the company should avoid as much as possible the hauling of freight during the hours of the city's business.

It limited the hauling of freight to the hours between 8 p. m. daily and 6 a. m. daily and provided that the company should avoid as much as possible the hauling of freight during the hours of the city's business.

Must Build Aqueduct.

One of the propositions of the franchise is that the company shall build an aqueduct over City creek along North Temple street from Third West to Main street, and then south to South Temple street, thence west to First West, thence south to Main street, and then west to South Temple street, thence west to the city limits.

This would give the company the right to use the city streets for the laying of tracks and for the hauling of freight, and would also give the company the right to use the city streets for the laying of tracks and for the hauling of freight.

BELIEVES SALT LAKE IS DESTINED FOR GREATNESS

E. H. Beardsley of Chicago has a firm and abiding faith in the west. Just to show that this confidence consists not merely of idle conversation, Mr. Beardsley has invested $10,000 in Salt Lake, and he is now in the city, and he is now in the city, and he is now in the city.

VICTIM OF BRUTAL SHOOTING VISITING HERE

Ernest H. Greene, the Salt Lake mining man who was shot and badly injured by T. J. Fitzpatrick, near Nipton, Cal., December 2, and who is now in the Salt Lake hospital, accompanied by his wife, formerly Miss Jack McCune, a daughter of A. W. McCune.

Greene, it is alleged, was shot in a brutal manner following a dispute with Fitzpatrick over the ownership of a piece of land in the Nipton mine.

The bullet entered Greene's abdomen and lodged near his heart. He was taken to the Salt Lake hospital and is now in a critical condition.

New Steel Balcony.

The county commissioners at their meeting Monday awarded the contract for the construction of a steel balcony on the county clerk's office to the Paul Building company, upon its bid of $14,500.

It is the intention to build a steel balcony on the county clerk's office, and the Paul Building company was the only bidder on the job.

BELL COMPLETES NEW COPPER LINE

Finishes a Circuit Between Towns of Sheridan and Basin, Wyo.

SALT LAKE MAY NOW TALK TO FIRST PLACE

Thirty-Five Miles of Circuit Are on Top of the Big Horn Mountains.

With the completion of a new copper circuit of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company between Sheridan and Basin, Wyo., Monday, the sound of a human voice was carried between Sheridan and Salt Lake for the first time. A. J. Vance, general plant superintendent of the company, called up his chief clerk, H. J. Bollin, at Salt Lake about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the two had a very successful conversation. Mr. Vance talked with Chief Engineer A. S. Peters at his office in Salt Lake later.

The circuit from Salt Lake City to Sheridan is 33 miles long, but, owing to the connections necessary to make in reaching Sheridan from here, the Bell engineers compute the resistance of the circuit as the equivalent of 160 miles of No. 8 copper wire. As $50 miles is a standard "talk" on a direct No. 8 circuit, the success of the test on the new line Monday was very pleasing to the Bell people.

Telephone Building Feat.

The construction of the ninety-nine miles necessary to connect Sheridan and Basin is regarded as a notable telephone building feat. The line is 160 miles long and is on top of the Big Horn mountains at an altitude of between 9000 and 10,000 feet. This is believed to be the longest stretch of telephone line at so great an altitude in the world.

Work on the line was begun in August and has been in progress ever since. The unusual natural obstacles being such as to make construction slow.

The line will not be opened for public use for some time. The company expects to make further tests before putting it in service. By means of this line, a large and rich region of northeastern Wyoming not heretofore accessible by telephone will be reached.

Police and Citizens Refute Charges of Cruelty to Prisoners.

It is merely another one of those attempts to assassinate my character, said Chief Barlow, when asked if he and his statement to make regarding the alleged brutal treatment of the prisoners on the chain gang by the police in charge, the wild story which appeared in the Deseret Evening News, Monday.

Continuing, the chief said: "I would like to have you go and see some of those prisoners who are in the chain gang, and ask them if they were treated as the Deseret News, and ask them if they were treated as the Deseret News, and ask them if they were treated as the Deseret News."

HOROSCOPE By Cosette.

Tuesday, December 21, 1909.

To wondrous heights the spirit now can rise And gain a touch of something from the skies.

A day of spiritual birth and fine impulses is denoted by the unusual configuration of the stars. Venus is in position to shed a flood of light upon the earth's atmosphere, granting extraordinary power of insight and enabling persons of idealism and great spirit to put themselves above the chronic trifles of life.

There should be guidance for those who are perplexed as to courses of action, and friends and family should be helpful in this time of great transition.

Persons who have permitted themselves to become involved in a tangled web of selfish plans and aims will be wise if they obey the better impulses of the soul.

Venus looks favoring on lovers and promises fortune for courtship, engagements and wedlock.

There is a bright sign over shopping. Milliners, dressmakers, florists, jewelers, perfumers, caterers, confectioners, dry goods merchants and salespeople should benefit.

Trance rules the romantic and the idealistic. Love and beauty study teaching, science, art, investigation, sightseeing and travel for recreation or information.

Business men must use good reasoning, deliberation and unbiased judgment in all commercial undertakings. For anything that is left to depend on chance in this period will depend on a deceptive and erratic time.

Persons who have permitted themselves to become involved in a tangled web of selfish plans and aims will be wise if they obey the better impulses of the soul.

CHRISTMAS MAILS SURPASS RECORDS

Quantity Handled by Salt Lake Postoffice Will Be Heaviest in History of City.

BIG SACKFUL COMPLETED EVERY THIRD MINUTE

Those Who Attended to Sending Off Presents Early Are Fortunate and Wise.

There are piles and heaps and heaps and piles of Christmas presents in the Salt Lake postoffice. There are yet more heaps and piles to come. Without question, the Salt Lake office will handle by far a greater quantity of mail matter this holiday season than during a similar period in all of its history.

"I do not believe there is any question," said Postmaster Arthur L. Thomas, Monday, "that we will have more mail matter by far than we had last year, or any other year. We are sending it out by the wagon loads. You see those sacks? Well, a sack of mail leaves these scales every three minutes. In a sack, I judge, there are about 200 pounds, so you see we are hauling some mail."

"It seems that nothing we can do will keep people from getting their packages in time. The trains are all late, and the mails are congested. Last year there were 200 sacks of mail untouched, piled up at a single railroad station in Chicago, and when you figure all the railroads that run into Chicago, you may get an idea of what the congestion there really was."

Early Comers Wise.

"Those people were wise who sent off their presents last week. They all have a good chance of getting through in time. The trains are all late, and the mails are congested. Last year there were 200 sacks of mail untouched, piled up at a single railroad station in Chicago, and when you figure all the railroads that run into Chicago, you may get an idea of what the congestion there really was."

The busy department is especially in it up to his neck, but all keep pegging away with an indefatigable energy and earnestness of purpose that are good to behold. They say they will not permit the quantity of mail to overwhelm them, and they are confident that they will meet every day of it.

Carriers Have Heavy Loads.

The carriers are heavily laden these days. Their sacks bulge with mail of all kinds, mostly of the holiday character, of course. The addition of a number of carriers has relieved the work somewhat, but the work is still one of magnitude.

The first big lot of the incoming Christmas packages arrived Monday. The mail is coming in by the wagon loads, and the carriers are heavily laden these days.
